

Xaltor's big date with Keplee

On the 31st of Jan, 1008 - The Party entered into a sales agreement with Keplee Pavix, owner of 'The Full Pack' - A General Supply store (building #98) in Whillip.

As part of the purchase (Keplee purchased 1000 pairs of 'All Purpose' leather gloves at 7sp and 5cp each (total of 375gp)) agreement, Xaltor agreed to accompany Keplee on a date.

Keplee Pavix is a female Human, age appx 30. She is tall, skinny and wears glasses. She's not unattractive, with typical looks/personality (Charisma = 12) she is very intelligent (Intelligence = 16), enjoys needlepoint and music. As a contributor to the Fine Arts community of Whillip, Keplee asked Xaltor to accompany her at the next concert in the park (Building 321 / The dueling grounds) on the evening of the 31 Janus, 1008. The date was supposed to be on the 31st (a Festival date), but Keplee couldn't get tickets in time, so she had to change the date to the 2nd of Febulus. In changing the date, she was able to get better seats, and she notified Nathis just in time to allow for Xaltor's attendance.

The concert featured a performance by the 'Winter Folk' a performing group from nearby city of Ky-Tuper. The lead vocalist, Baliss Tyndal has attracted a following in Whillip and tours many cities and towns throughout Sembia.

It's unknown whether Keplee has any romantic interest in Xaltor, but her appearance with such a hunky adventurer will attract some attention in the press, which she will undoubtedly convert into greater sales at her store.

On the night of the concert Keplee wore a very revealing dress. What a surprise! With it being so cold during the winter concert in the park, she called in a favor with a local Illusionist that she knows. He enchanted a skimpy red-dress such that it provided comfortable heat, while appearing to bath the wearer in 'living' red flames (the flames are illusory but realistic).

Keplee called on Xaltor around 6pm (at the manor). She arrived in a black lacquered, formal luxury coach, with a team of two white horses, a driver and a footman. She insisted that Xaltor appear in his usual Adventurer gear, with his sword and armor polished for the event.

They spent the night socializing with other business owners and society figures at the outdoor event. Keplee encouraged him to regale the socialites with tales of the Xterminators latest adventure. He was instructed to point out that he 'is her date', and stays near her at all times.

While Xaltor enjoyed the event to some extent - Regaling the citizens of Whillip with the liberation of Shaes from the grips of terror at the hands of the Troglodytes; thrilling the audience with their escape from "Deadman's Cave" and the "Whirlpool of Doom"; helping to spread the fame of the Xterminators... The food was light and sparse. The drinking was watered down, everyone seemed very controlled and formal in their behavior, and Keplee showed very little interest in Xaltor himself.

The couple answered a few questions from a 'reporter' and they even posed for a sketch after the concert. Surprisingly, that sketch appeared in the Whillip sheet on the morning after the concert. This local newspaper had a front page story (in the Socialite's section) less than 24 hours after the event... Almost as if the article had been written beforehand. The article even went so far as to hint that there was a romantic relationship and marriage was being discussed! Xaltor doesn't remember any such discussion.
