

+1 Short Sword of Sizing and Invisible Light

- A +1 short sword, currently sized for a medium character.
- The sword has runes on its blade. The runes are of variable size, and seem to be arcane. Those who are familiar with magical script, will be able to make out various words/symbols for light and darkness
- If the sword is grasped by a creature of any size other than medium it will visibly, but slowly resize itself over a one hour time span. As it resizes it will generate a considerable (noticeable) amount of heat (not damaging or dangerous). It can thus be transformed to sizes: Small (1lb), Medium (2lb), Large (4lb).
- This +1 short sword produces 'Invisible' light in a 20' radius, dim light for an additional 20' (see Light spell in PH, pg 248). Note that the light produced is not equivalent to daylight and it can only be seen by the sword wielder and those in contact with the wielder. The sword only produces this light when drawn, and the sword is commanded by the wielder (by speaking aloud in any language known to the wielder) to 'Produce Light'. The light can be/is then doused if/when the sword is sheathed or commanded by the wielder to 'Douse Light'.
