Hello -

Some time ago... you wrote/mailed me regarding your interest in joining my D&D campaign in South East Aurora (yes - that's Colorado). As occasionally happens, we've had a player drop out of our campaign. As a result I'm running through the grueling gauntlet of recruiting a suitable player to join our group. Perhaps you're still interested in joining our group for regular play in a long term campaign.

I am currently soliciting for One new player in the Southeast Aurora/Denver area (Near the Aurora reservoir). I've got 40+ years experience DM'ing D&D campaigns. My wife and I moved to Denver fifteen years ago, and we've been playing/running a 3E campaign since then.

The campaign I run is version 3.5 D&D, Forgotten Realms (primarily), with some house rules. If you'd like to get some idea of how I run the campaign/how it's going so far, visit my web site: <<http://www.RobsWorld.org/3ecampaign.html>> (p.s. I'm not selling anything). The D&D/FRP materials should give you some insight into my campaign/DM'ing style. I don't use all the house rules listed at my web site (I am using the ones listed in the 3rd edition sections). See <<http://www.robsworld.org/3ehsrls.pdf>> for all the house rules.

The current campaign has been running since Jan 1st, 2003, and the characters are currently 11th level. They're currently in the middle of leveling up (from 10th to 11th level), and they will be selecting their next adventure soon, so this is a good time to get a new character into the campaign. Any new characters would enter the game at 11th level. Note that our campaign has a long arc. Don't expect advancement after every/every other session. It usually takes more than a year to complete an adventure. The adventure that just ended started back March of 2015.

The campaign runs/meets every other Saturday, from 1800-2359. No evil play/characters permitted - Our campaign is looking for Heroes, not opportunists or players who aren't willing to play within a group social setting - It's Face-To-Face D&D, not an MMORPG. We appreciate collaboration, role-playing, and the sharing of ideas. (Our next meeting is 30 July, 2016).

If you're interested in joining our 3.5 edition Forgotten realms campaign (adults only please), please send an email To: <gamers@robsworld.org>. With a new player the group will consist of seven players and one DM (me). I will consider all positive responses in the order they arrive.

If you want me to remove you from my 'player wanted' solicitations, please let me know. I'll gladly remove you from my 'waiting list'.

Your name/email address is on my 'Waiting List' because you responded to a 'Players Wanted/Needed' advertisement that I posted on a website, mailing list or RPG forum/bulletin board. I only add people to this list after I obtain their specific permission. I'm not selling anything. I'm not giving anything away. I'm not disclosing/selling/leasing/giving your name/email address to anyone.
